THIS long and well known Hotel, with its unequaled system, still presents itself to the traveling public.

The House was opened on the 1st of January, 1856, and took at once a prominent position among the "first class" Hotels of the country. It has never been closed since, but it has been steadily increasing in prosperity, till it acknowledges no successful rival in the business in the State.

Recent improvements and refurnishing of the House, which is still in the hands of the Proprietors, have left nothing to be desired by those who love their ease and enjoy the comforts and luxuries of life. The Hotel is admirably situated for the convenience of the travelling public, being situated opposite the Passenger Depot, and but a few steps from the same. It has a retinue of well trained servants in every department, and the Proprietors will spare no pains or expense to sustain the established reputation of the Hotel. Special attention paid to the wants of lady guests, who may sojourn at the House, and none shall go away dissatisfied, if an earnest endeavor to please will secure a liberal share of the public patronage. ie16-dtf

WITH the advent of another Cotton Season, we renew to our friends and patrons the offer of our service in the storage and sale of their cotton. We have demonstrated the fact by the experience of past seasons, and particularly of the last, that Atlanta is one of the best interior cotton markets of the South. This is due chiefly to her situation; being on the direct route from the producing districts to the large seaport marts, and having the advantage of three routes to New York, via Savannah, Charleston and Norfolk, all of which are freely and satisfactorily used. The importance of Atlanta as a cotton market was, during the last season, acknowledged by the New York [illegible], many of whom made extensive purchases in it, with the local competition enabled us [illegible] the most satisfactory prices; relatively [illegible] most instances than could have be[illegible] our consignors, by shipments [illegible] points.

EVENING EDITION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, DECEMBER 2.

☞ The following communication is upon a subject of vital importance to the citizens of the Chattahoochee district. If the appointment of a Judge for that district was unconstitutionally made, as is clearly shown, his decisions will be alike null and void:

Strange Mode of Making a Judicial Appointment.

The following order, published in the Atlanta papers, has attracted the attention of the people of this State, and especially the people of the Chattahoochee Circuit:

"EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
"Atlanta, Ga., October 12, 1868. }

"Ordered, that Edmund H. Worrell be, and is hereby appointed, Judge of the Superior Courts of the Chattahoochee Judicial Circuit, to hold said office until his successor is appointed, and that he be commissioned accordingly.

"RUFUS B. BULLOCK, Governor."

The inquiry is, under what clause of the new Constitution does the Governor derive his authority to make this appointment? If the new Constitution does not confer the power and authority upon the Governor to make the appointment at the time, and in the manner in which he has made it, the appointment is simply void, and all the acts done and judgments rendered by the judicial officer so appointed, will be also null and void. The inquiry, therefore, is of the most vital importance to the people of the State. This appointment, although purporting to have been made by Gov. Bullock in his official capacity, unless authorized by the Constitution, is of no more force or effect than if made by any other private individual. The Constitution defines his powers and duties in appointing Judges of the Superior Courts in this State. His authority to make the appointment is derived solely from the new Constitution under which he claims his official existence.

By the 3d section of the 5th article of the Constitution, it is declared "There shall be a Judge of the Superior Courts for each judicial circuit. At the first appointment of such judges under this Constitution, one-half of the number (as near as may be) shall be appointed for four years, and the other half for eight years, but all subsequent appointments, except to fill unexpired terms, shall be for the term of eight years." The Chattahoochee Circuit was one of the judicial circuits in this State, at the time of the adoption of the present Constitution, and at the time the Governor took the oath of office, to preserve, protect and defend the same.

That Constitution declares "That there shall be a Judge of the Superior Court for each judicial circuit." The 3d section of the Constitution declares, "That the Judges of the Superior Courts SHALL be appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate." Now, it is a well known fact, that the Legislature was in session at Atlanta from the fourth day of July to the sixth day of October, and that the Governor appointed Judges of the Superior Courts, as required by the Constitution, for all the judicial circuits in the State, except the Chattahoochee Circuit; for that judicial circuit no appointment was made during the session of the Legislature, and submitted to the Senate for confirmation, as required by the Constitution.

Why did the Governor omit or neglect to perform the duty enjoined upon him by the Constitution in making the appointment of a Judge for the Chattahoochee Circuit, in the same manner as the Constitution required him to do and as he did do for all the other circuits in the State? Did he intentionally omit and neglect to perform his constitutional duty in appointing a Judge for that circuit, so as to reward in the future, a pliant tool in the Legislature who was ineligible to the office of Judge in consequence of his being a member of that body? Time will, in all probability, disclose the motive. The Governor not only failed to perform his constitutional duty in appointing a Judge for the Chattahoochee circuit, during the session of the Legislature; but what has he done since the adjournment of the Legislature? He has appointed a Judge for that circuit not for four years, nor for eight years, as the constitution required him to do, but his appointee is to hold the office until his successor is appointed! It will be remembered that this is the first appointment of a Judge for that circuit under the new Constitution, and that Constitution declares that, "At the first appointment of Judges of the Superior Courts under this Constitution one-half shall be appointed for four years, and the other half for eight years, and that subsequent appointments except to fill unexpired terms shall be for the term of eight years. The appointment of Judge Worrell was one eminently fit to have been made, but why was not his appointment made by the Governor and submitted to the Senate for confirmation as was done in the other Judicial Circuits and as the Constitution required him to do? Why wait until after the adjournment of the Legislature, and then make the first appointment under "this Constitution" of a Judge for that Circuit to hold his office until this successor (Mr. Bethune, or some one else,) is appointed? Where does the Governor derive his authority under "this Constitution" to appoint Judge Worrell to hold the [illegible] until his successor is appointed? [illegible] the new 2d section of the 4th article where any Constitution it is declared, death, resignation [illegible] office shall become vacant [illegible] Governor shall [illegible] nation or otherwise such vacancy, unless [illegible] have power to [illegible] by law, and persons so [illegible] otherwise pro[illegible] continue in office until a[illegible] appointed [illegible] agreeably to the [illegible] out by this Constitution, [illegible] law in pursuance thereof."

[illegible] had been no Judge appointed for [illegible] Circuit under "this Constitution" and consequently there was no vacancy created in that office by death, resignation or otherwise.

Judge Worrell is the first Judge that has ever been appointed for that Circuit under "this Constitution." Whose vacancy under "this Constitution" was he appointed to fill?

If there was a vacancy in the office, it was created by the Governor himself in failing to perform his constitutional duty in making the appointment during the session of the Legislature as the Constitution required. The people had the right, under the Constitution, to have had the appointment of their judicial officer made by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate for the term of four or eight years. The Governor has no power or authority, under "this Constitution," in making the first appointment of a Judge of the Chattahoochee Circuit, to create a vacancy by his own act, and then fill it by his own appointment until it is convenient for him to appoint his successor, unless, indeed, he is the State." We will thank Governor Bullock, or his Attorney General to explain to the people of Georgia, and especially to the people of the Chattahoochee Circuit, under what clause of the new Constitution, he derives his power and authority to appoint Judge Worrell Judge of that circuit, without submitting his appointment to the Senate for confirmation? From whence does the Governor derive his power and authority to appoint Judge Worrell Judge of the Chattahoochee Circuit, until his successor shall be appointed, it being the first appointment of a Judge for that circuit under "this Constitution?" What economy has been created in the office of Judge of the Chattahoochee circuit since the adoption of the new Constitution, by death, resignation, or otherwise, and whose vacancy is it? If there was a vacancy created in the office by the adoption of the new Constitution, why was not that vacancy filled by an appointment of a Judge during the session of the Legislature as was done in the other Circuits of the State? Can the Governor, under the new Constitution, create a vacancy in the office of Judge of the Superior Courts of the Chattahoochee Circuit, by intentionally neglecting, or refusing, to appoint a Judge therefore in the manner enjoined upon him by the Constitution, and then proceed to fill such vacancy so intentionally created by him by the appointment of a Judge to hold the office until it shall be his pleasure to appoint his successor?

If there had been such a flagrant violation of the Constitution by any of our old fashioned Civil Governors as is here presented, they would have been promptly impeached and turned out of office; but our new bayonet Governor, we suppose, can do all these things, and many more, with impunity, but in the meantime the people suffer. MUSCOGEE.

THE BARK GAUSS—Arrival of Emigrants.—The favorite North German Bark Gauss, under the command of that experienced veteran, Captain Weiting, left Bremen on the 4th of October, bound for Charleston via Baltimore, and having on board about three hundred passengers, of whom over one hundred were destined for Charleston. We learn that the passage out was made under the most favorable circumstances, and favoring breezes speedily wafted the gallant ship to the shores of America. In crossing the Atlantic, however, the Gauss experienced heavy weather, which drove her out of her course so far to the Southward, that she was compelled to abandon the idea of making Baltimore and put into this port.

THE PASSENGERS

For this point and vicinity number near one hundred. They generally present a healthy and substantial appearance, and give indications of making most useful and valuable citizens, just such as are needed at this time to rebuild the broken fortunes of our beloved State and City. A party from Bohemia, look particularly sturdy, capable of any amount of endurance, and we understand are practical farmers. We are glad to greet the advent among us of so useful an addition to our population. There are opportunities afforded them of doing well in this State. Our soil needs only the presence of practical hard working tillers to make it yield forth abundantly of the staple. And we feel convinced that these are just the people who can do it. Our only regret is that the entire number of them cannot be induced to remain among us.

During the day many of the passengers who had friends or relatives in the city left the ship for the purpose of visiting them, and their appearance on the street in the costumes of the Fatherland, created quite a lively sensation. The event will not soon be forgotten by our German fellow-citizens. We extend a hearty welcome to the new comers, and trust that their advent may be the precursor of the coming of many more. South Carolina needs the assistance of these sturdy sons and daughters of the old country to raise her to a condition of prosperity second to that of no State in the Union. We have room for all that may come, and we promise them a warm welcome.—Charleston Courier, 30th ult.

LESS LAND.—If there is one thing in farming that we need most, it is small farms. We need them smaller than is generally supposed. A little of the earth thoroughly treated, with the great atmosphere of wealth above it, is all that we need—is all that we can use. We may own much, but we can occupy but little—a mere patch—and that we can make our own. What crops we raise are always safe; no risk. This should inspire us to see such crops, and from such little city, and have it right by us. There is a stimulant and satisfaction in this, that ought to stimulate every one, and it ought to farmer, his enjoyments. It is to the order; ev[illegible] There is benefit in this; the place, there every thing is clean and it You have your [illegible] is no crowding, no [illegible] you do well—time, and you can [illegible] a thing should be the only way [illegible] it is not done. Then a done, but in [illegible] country gentlemen," and man becom[illegible] We must, and will eventu[illegible] not till [illegible] the European plan. It pays to ally, [illegible] here. If it "pays" to do as we [illegible] it will pay better to do as we [illegible] do. Let us do it. Can we do it? [illegible] We are so accustomed to the old routine that it is difficult to break away. Sell that thou hast, and come and buy—less. That is the doctrine; that is life; it is living, and not merely making money. And there is but one way to do this; it is by adopting a system of thorough, downright treatment of the soil, in all respect, but particularly in the application of manures—enriching deeply, fully and vigorously, the land, to a capacity that few hitherto have attempted. Then we get ourselves a home—what they have in Europe, but what we have not here; there is not the attraction (from long association) that is required. We make our homes barren, both in field and in domicile. There is not the wealth, the luxuriance, the taste, and, consequently, the permanence, which are required to make a habitat. Our associations are not lasting, because they have not had chance to take root. We must make our homes, and we must begin some time, and that soon, with many of us, or we are too late. Shall we then fritter away our time till the only life we have to live is gone? But we must live for our children. Aye, and our children are ourselves. The way to do for ourselves—make a home for us, for them.—Country Gent.

The Toilers of the Land.

The condition of the agricultural laborer in England is one of the saddest pictures in modern life. He is expected to maintain his wife and family, to pay house rent, and provide food, clothing and fuel, from wages not averaging much over half a dollar a day. This is the extreme of poverty. It reduces the laborer almost to the level of the brute. He seldom eats meat, and his family are half starved. He can neither read nor write, and his children grow up, like himself, in utter ignorance. His pleasures are gross vices; his disposition is made savage and brutal; and he lives and dies a reproach to his species.

This result has been produced partly by a long course of heartless and selfish legislation, enforced by tyrannical kings and avaricious nobles, an excellent example of which may be found in our own law against labor unions, and partly from the incessant wars in which England has been allowed to help himself, and has remained little better than a serf.

There is danger that our own agricultural laborers are tending toward this condition. At present they are apparently prosperous. Their wages are four times those of England. They have plentiful food, and are well lodged and cared for. A wide demand exists for labor, and no one need suffer who can work. Yet it is plain that the two dollars a day which the laborer now gets is scarcely equal to the one formerly received. House rent, fuel, clothing and food are double what they once were, and it is evident that the honest laborer must deprive himself and his family of many little luxuries in which they formerly indulged, in order to escape debt. His wages have never risen in equal proportion with those of the skilled artisan. He is sinking, without any prospect of relief.

European political economists propose the small farm system as a remedy for agricultural suffering; and the plan succeeds remarkably well with the thrifty Continental farmers. In our own case, however, where the laborer wishes to improve his condition, he can do so better probably by uniting with several others in hiring or purchasing a number of acres of land, and cultivating it by their common labor. Co-operative farms have been successful in England, where land is extremely dear. They would no doubt be far more so in this country, where it is cheap and plentiful. A little prudence and economy at the beginning of such an enterprise, united with perseverance, would give it a sure success. The small savings of a number of laborers combined would enable them to purchase or locate a farm, and they would thus obtain the profits of their own labor, without the deduction demanded by the capitalist.

The change would prove a signal benefit to the moral and mental character of the laborer. His profits would be far great[illegible] than ever his wages had been; he w[illegible] have leisure for mental improveme[illegible] manners would soften, his mind [illegible] and we might obtain in the co[illegible] what no other nation has e[illegible] prosperous agricultural [illegible]—New York Sun.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT—Miraculous Escape from a Sink-hole.—James Williams, who lives eight miles from Knoxville, in company with two other men, was out hunting on Thursday night. Williams, who had an axe on his shoulder, and was in advance of the other two men, passing through a field, stepped into a hole or cave and disappeared. The party with him approached and halloed, but could get no response. They went to a neighbor's house and learned that the depth of the cave had never been ascertained. They at once got bed-cords and tied them together, fastening a rock to one end and letting it down in the hole to the depth of 120 feet. Williams was alive, and tied the rope around his body and legs, and was hauled or pulled from the awful chasm by six men, who had come to his assistance. He is still living, but with little hope of recovery. These are facts, though it looks fabulous.—Knoxville Press.

STAR AGRICULTURAL WORKS.
The Albany Cotton Gin Manuf'g Co.
Manufacturers of the Celebrated "Star" Cotton Gins and Condensers, "Star" Threshing Machines, "Star" Lever and Railway Chain Horse Powers, and other Agricultural Machinery.

Our "STAR" Cotton Gin and Condenser has taken first premiums in every instance where entered at Southern Fairs, competing with the best Gins of the country made by other parties.

At the two Great Fairs of the Mechanics' and Agricultural Association, held at New Orleans, successively in November, 1866, and January, 1868, the "Star" Gin and Condenser [illegible] Fairs [illegible] Condensers, against a competition embracing all other Gins of any prominence in the country. Also at the last two State Fairs held at St. Louis, Mo., our Gin and Condenser took the First Premium against a powerful competition.

The Condenser attachment being new to most planters, we wish to say that it entirely obviates the necessity of a "lint room," as with it a Gin may be used in the open air and the lint or boll as it is discharged from the Condenser is ready for the press. It effectually cleans the cotton of sand and dirt, and makes the work of ginning free from the danger of inhaling the fine particles of lint which otherwise fill the air.

N. B. We also make the most approved Horse Powers (both Lever and Railway) to drive the "Star" Gins, and also manufacture the celebrated "Star" Threshing Machines. We furnish Gins with or without Condensers. For sale by our AGENTS and DEALERS generally. Our Complete Illustrated Descriptive Circular is sent, free of charge, on application by mail. Democratic Nominations
FOR CONGRESS.

1. A. H. HANSELL, of Thomas.
2. NELSON TIFT, of Dougherty.
3. HUGH BUCHANAN, of Coweta.
4. THOS. G. LAWSON, of Putnam.
6. WEIR BOYD, of Lumpkin.
7. P. M. B. YOUNG, of Bartow.

By Way of Apology.—If, in our zeal in advocacy of what we thought was right in the municipal contest just over, [we] said anything that offended a personal friend or a genuine Democrat, we are sorry for it, and beg pardon. If we offended others, we don't much care, and they are at liberty to mouth around the streets as much as they please, and get in a good humor at their leisure.

True to his Creed.—The gentlemanly and consistent course of Mr. E. E. Rawson in the late election, is worthy of special mention. A candidate for Mayor before the Nominating Convention of the Democratic party, the majority having decided against him, he gracefully bowed to the will of his party without a murmer of discontent. The opposition sought to disaffect him by placing him on their ticket for Alderman, but he declined to serve them on the ground that his name had gone before the Democratic Convention, and that he was morally as well a politically bound to support its nominees. As a member of the present Council, Mr. Rawson opposed the postponement of the election, not only supporting the Democratic ticket by word and act, but counselling his friends to do likewise, recognizing the legality of the election. The conduct of Mr. Rawson in this matter throughout, is characteristic of the high-toned gentleman he is, and will doubly endear him in future to his friends.

The Cornfields of the Great West.—A gentleman writing from Illinois to a friend in Boston, says:

While out hunting, two weeks ago, I was in some cornfields which belong to a man named Sullivan. He probably owns more land than any farmer in the State. He is the proprietor of nine townships each six miles square. This year he has 25,000 acres of corn. This seems like a big story, but it is nevertheless true. It was just the easiest thing in the world to get lost in his cornfields. I strayed into one field and walked four and a half miles before I came to the end of the row of corn which I followed.

East Alabama Agricultural Society

At a late meeting of the East Alabama Agricultural Society, a silver cup was presented to Dr. C. T. Cushman, in appreciation of a "Harvest Hymn" written by him for the occasion. From the Doctor's reply, which we give below, it will be seen that as a farmer, he is as practical as he is poetical as a song writer. We trust none of our readers will fail to read his beautiful and appropriate address:

Mr. Peabody: Sir, I must confess to a surprise. It reminds me of that of Lord Byron—shall I say "my illustrious predecessor," for the sake of introducing a fitting, ready-made remark?—who said that he awoke one fine morning and found himself famous. When you, a few weeks ago, as President of your Society, solicited me to write a song for your second Fair—"adapted to the times," as you said—I demurred, on the ground that so many others were more capable than myself, that it would seem presumptuous in me ever to make such an attempt. But I consented to serve in case you could not secure an abler pen, because, as I said, of my desire to exalt husbandry—the first and best calling of man—a calling to which I was bred as a boy, and to which again, in common with most men of my age who are out of it, I hope to return. Neither my own vanity, nor that of my most partial friends, could have reasonably prophecied for my little essay such an enthusiastic welcome—such solid, sterling appreciation as I know and see it has received.

Sir, my fancy sees in this my "cup of happiness," and I feel that it is well nigh full. May my posterity live to drink my health from it for centuries to come!

[Here the laugh comes in.]

I would that I had the gift to write proper "Hymns for the People." Who would covet a higher power? For, says a great French author, "Let me but write a nation's Songs—I care not who makes her laws."

Sir, I remember, more than ten years ago, the visit of a model New England farmer to this section, and he, after inspecting our system of agriculture, endorsed you to me as a scientific and successful cultivator. And I believe your fellow-citizens regard you as a pioneer and co-laborer with Dickson, Bancroft, Poullain and others. But, sir, I must not forget that one of your favorite expedients has been the attempt to make an author out of me. Your two experiments in this direction are the only ones in all your experience, so far as I know, in which you have produced a short crop.

But of the surer cultivation of the soil, who among us need despair? When, in your adjoining county, a man by plowing to the depth of sixteen inches and applying five hundred pounds of fertilizer to the acre, produces three bales of cotton, shall we not sing in the ears of his skeptical, old-fashioned neighbors, who are at this day using almost the identical hen-scratch that Pharoh employed on his plantation on the Nile—as we sung before the Muscogee and Russell Agricultural Society—

Plow a little deeper!

What farmer thinks of leaving Georgia for better climes, when three thousand pounds of ginned cotton to the hand was made on the old lands of Middle Georgia this year? When a poor preacher there, abandoned by his poor congregation to the roadside, like an old blind horse, to save himself from the fate of that victim of man's cruel ingratitude, turned his attention to his little patch of worn out land, and although himself had no practical knowledge of the culture of cotton, yet invested almost his last dollar in a ton of fertilizer, thus uniting faith and good works—with it one white laborer produced from on those ten acres eleven bales of cotton!

Who shall despair of the South, when, so soon after a destructive war as 1867, she produced sixty-nine per cent. of our national exports!

Who has the vision to foresee the future wealth, population and power of this empire, when we consider that the whole area of cotton culture in these thirteen States covers no more than the area of two New England States!

A vast panorama looms up before the imagination, in the busy scenes of which "our children's children" will be the actors. Sir, these are prolific thoughts to [illegible], but I am not their proper expo[illegible] [illegible]ly wish you and your Society, for [illegible] God-speed in the noble enterprise which you have so successfully, so happily inaugurated. I shall not need this beautiful memento to remind me that I was present on the interesting occasion with my companions, some of whom I see around me, for I shall ever look back with delight, remembering that we were not only participants, but honored guests.

Sir, I return you my thanks for your handsome compliments—my gratitude for your generous gift.

An interval for refreshments followed, after which came the singing of the "Harvest Hymn," which was rendered by the members of the Club and lady assistants with much skill and beauty.

THE HARVEST HYMN.

Sung at the East Alabama Agricultural Fair, October 29, 1868.

I.

To Thee, our Father! God of Peace!
Our first-fruits here we bring;
The golden sheaf, the snowy fleece,
That feed and cloth the king.
Here at Thy feet, now harvest crowned,
This smiling land adores
The Providence, the Love profound
That gave the sun and showers.

II.

Though War and Faction laid their blight
Upon her lovely breast,
Yet, glim'ring in the dawning light,
We see her rising crest!
Her stalwart sons, her daughters mild,
By sturdy, patient blows,
Ere long shall make her sedgy wild
To blossom as the rose.

III.

Fair Science comes, the way to show—
What Labor failed of yore—
To make two ears of corn to grow
Where but one grew before;
To quicken Art, and break the seal
On Truth's pure temple set;
Then let the fire of new-born zeal
Make each his woes forget!

IV.

Bright land! where Liberty abides
There let us have our State;
Where Virtue, Truth, where Mind presides,
To make the nation great!
To her we'll cling, with love of home,
And give our latest breath
Defending, till we find a tomb
Beneath her sod in death.

A GIGANTIC SWINDLE.

The Southern Fire Insurance Company and its Operations.

Seizure of the Concern and Arrest of the Originator.

Mysterious hints as to the solvency of the "Southern Fire Insurance Company," of this city, and even of gigantic frauds on the part of those immediately concerned in its management, have been circulating on our streets for several days. Last evening a flood of light was poured upon the subject, which enabled the public to fully conprehend one of the most extensive and ingenious swindles ever perpetrated on any community.

The following synopsis of an application filed with wth Judge Cary by some of the chief sufferers, will give a clear idea of the developments that have been made:

The bill charges that in 1866, the Legislature chartered the Fire Insurance Company, and promised that persons named in the charter, to-wit: J. R. Berry, Robert Thompson, Wright and Tyres, should become a body corporate and politic, who with others thereafter to become stockholders and policy holders, might organize and become Directors of said company. That they should have power to elect Directors by themselves—that they met, and, without consultation with the stockholders, re-elected themselves and without giving bond, proceeded to the appointment of irresponsible agents; that these agents proceeded to travel through the States of Tennessee, Georgia, North Carolina and Alabama, and received notes and issued policies of insurance to the amount of $400,000, receiving of cash premiums at least $100,000; that the charter provided that the Directors might invest the assets of the company in any property, or thing which they, in their discretion, might regard as most advantageous to the policy-holders; that the charter further provided that the Directors might issue guarantee notes to the amount of $500,000, which were not to be used unless the assets of the company were deficient.

The bill charges that J. R. Berry was the principal manager of the concern; that he was the acting Secretary, President, Treasurer, and Executive Committee; was not worth one dollar; had failed in other establishments of a similar character in Indiana, and had inaugurated this policy here in Tennessee for the purposes of fraud and speculation; that said Berry drew the charter and engineered it through the Legislature fraudulently; that he practiced a fraud in the election of the Directors; that he practiced a fraud by executing his guarantee notes to the amount of $140,000, when he was not worth 140 cents; that on said note thus executed to the company as a guarantee note, he has received six per cent. interest, and his only object in executing this note, was to increase his salary; that he had received in this way, to be paid out of the cash premiums paid in by the stock holders, at least $13,000 per annum as his salary; that the whole amount of cash premiums paid into the office by the policy holders had been absorbed in the payment of the salaries of officers, and that the greater part had been received by Berry, who was, or discharged the duties of President and of Secretary and Treasurer, and Executive Committee, and all, and received the salaries of each, amounting to a fabulous sum, and that in this way the cash premiums paid in by the policy holders had been absorbed.

The bill further charges that the term Southern, had been adopted as a prefix to encourage Southern people to take policies, when, in truth, it was a Northern Carpet-bag concern, composed of bankrupts—Northern bankrupts—there being no Southern man in the company. That frauds had been practiced in entries on the books, and especially in ante-dating an entry as of 3d September, purporting to withdraw as of that date the guarantee notes, executed by Berry and Thompson, and others, when in truth, and in fact, the same was not signed by the President until since his return from New York, a few days ago.

The bill charges that the whole thing is bogus, capital, assets, men, charter and all, and is a most ridiculous and shallow swindle, and that every man concerned in practicing such a fraud upon a gallant, confiding and unsuspecting people, ought not only to be held liable for his fraud but ought to receive the penalties of the North Carolina whipping post for the sin and folly of his frauds. The bill seeks to attach all the assets in the keeping of the company—the books and notes and cash on deposit and the private property of Berry, and asks for the appointment of a Receiver and an injunction as to all the suits, wherever instituted, against the policy-holders, and that the notes of the policy-holders be delivered up to be cancelled. And especially that whatever private property the defendant, Berry, may have may be attached, and especially "his black horse and buggy" bought with the proceeds of the premium cash paid by the policy-holders.

This bill was filed by Judge Ridley and Hon. Charles Keady, of Murfreesboro, Col. T. H. Peebles, of Spring Hill, and Judge Baxter, of this county, who acted as a committee by appointment of numerous policy holders in Rutherford, Franklin, Bedford, Maury, and other counties. The gentlemen have been in the city since last Saturday engaged in making a rigid examination into the affairs of the "company." Their application to Judge Cary was at once granted, attachments were gotten out, and the office, with its assets, books, notes, etc., are now in the hands of Colonel Peebles, as Receiver.

Our information extends to the fact that whilst the policy-holders will all get back their premium notes, they will lose the cash premiums already paid in.

Suspicion was first excited about two weeks ago, when a demand was made for fifty per cent. of the premium notes, or about $100,000. Colonel Peeples came up from Spring Hill, saw how the thing was working (as charged in the bill) and immediately communicated with policy-holders in all the surrounding counties. The committee of investigation which has so successfully unearthed the swindle, was the result.

It is now impossible to ascertain the total loss that will be sustained by the victimized. The "Company's" operations extended to every county in the State, and throughout the States south of us. Until quite recently, a pretense of promptly adjusting all losses has been very successfully maintained. By employing young men who had served in the Confederate army, and who were popular in the neighborhoods where they resided, the public was easily induced to believe that the institution was a thoroughly home affair. It is now fully demonstrated that the agents thus employed were also the dupes of the swindlers who employed them; that they had no suspicion whatever that the "Company" for which they were canvassing was not sound and reliable in every sense of the term.

John R. Berry, who is charged in the bill with being the originator of the swindle, was arrested yesterday evening, and will be brought before Justice Cassetty for examination this morning. His property was attached, even to his trunk.

We learn that the committee in the bill filed by them, compliment in high terms of commendation the conduct of Robert Thompson, Esq., the first President, who withdrew from the concern after he found how it was operated. They likewise completely exhonerated Mr. Richard H. Thompson, the present President, from even a suspicion of complicity on his part. The facts clearly show that he was acting in good faith toward the insured, and that no one has been more completely taken in than himself. No further vindication of these two gentlemen on our part is necessary. Their reputations are above reproach, and they have the confidence and respect of this entire community.

The following are, or were, the officers and Directors of the company: R. H. Thompson, President; John R. Berry, Secretary; Robert J. Thompson, Treasurer; Directors: Thompson, Berry, R. J. Thompson, C. P. Wiggins, R. B. Winslow.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The publication of the foregoing article in the Republican Banner, of Nashville, on the 1st instant, has been the cause of great pain to myself as General Agent of the Southern Insurance Company for the State of Georgia. The manner in which the grave assertions of fraud and fraudulent combinations to impose upon a brave and generous people are made, is calculated to reflect upon my official transactions. In vindication of my character, I would say that I had no connection whatever with the organization of the Southern Insurance Company, and my association with the same has been only in the capacity of General Agent. In regard to the assets of the company, all representations which I have made have been based upon a sworn statement of its capital and liabilities forwarded to me by its President and Secretary, the truth of which I had no reason to doubt. I have done a large business in this community as an Insurance Agent, and have made money for the company which I represent, for every dollar of which I have accounted. Any of the people who are interested in knowing that I have not been made a willing instrument in perpetrating an imposition upon them are cordially invited to my office to make a thorough examination of my books and correspondence with the officers of the company. Impartial investigation will demonstrate that the strictest integrity and good faith has characterized the conduct of those associated with me at this point, as well as of myself in all business transactions. With thanks for the generous patienee extended towards me, I would inform the public that I will make no more collections on the premium notes out until the difficulties under which the Southern Insurance Company now labor are finally settled.

CHAS. P. WIGGINS.

The Value of Emigration to Us.

Mr. Banks told us last winter that, since 1790, the European States have furnished this country with upwards of 6,500,000 of their citizens, who, with their descendants, now number above 20,000,000. This is a startling fact, and it brings us at once to an appreciation of the power and wealth we have derived from this great influx of foreign element, because it is tangible. As these twenty millions are to the whole population, so is the ratio of benefit secured by their coming compared with the general aggregate of the national wealth. Mr. Banks ventured the assertion that these twenty millions of aliens by birth and extraction had sent back to Europe $250,000,000. But we infer that he includes in this statement only those remittances which have been registered, for it is known that large sums have been carried to Great Britain and the Continent by passengers, of which no record was made and which there was no means of reaching. It would not be extravagant to suppose that, since the foundation of the republic, 325 or 350 millions of dollars have been sent away from our shores by emigrants and their descendants. This whole subject of foreign emigration is one of paramount importance in its relation to the national interests. And though the advantages enjoyed in the past have been large, we have the satisfaction of knowing that they will be greatly exceeded in the future, when the attractions and the opportunities offered to those abroad will be four-fold more than they now are.

From 1820 to 1830, 244,490 persons of alien birth landed on our shores; from 1830 to 1840, 552,000; from 1840 to 1850, 1,588,300; from 1850 to 1860, 2,707,624. Such strides of increase each decade are marvellous, and cannot be compared with any facts in other countries, for the reason that America is the only nation which attracts emigration. Some twenty-five years ago one of the writers for Blackwood was highly elated with the fact that between 1801 and 1821 the population of England, Scotland, and Wales had increased one million, by unemployed Irish seeking work away from home. Indeed he was so exultant over the event that he fairly challenged any one and every one to show a "similar instance of so great "an inundation of inhabitants breaking into "any country, barbarous or civilized." He affirmed that not even the Goths and Vandals had attained to such a mark when they overwhelmed the Roman empire. He would have been amazed, perhaps, could he have foreseen that, within a few years then to come, over four and one-quarter millions of people would take up their effects and journey, not one hundred miles merely, but three thousand and more, over the briny deep, to found a home in the new western republic.

What has emigrationn done for us so far this decade, and what will it do in the future? The annual average at present is not a whit less than 300,000 persons. That is a temperate estimate. Mr. Banks puts it at 350,000. By actual investigation it has been ascertained that the emigrant brings between $80 and $100 with him for every man, woman and child. The latter sum is nearer correct. We have, then, thirty millions of specie mostly, added to the national money resources, and over seventy-five millions brought in by the emigration from January 1, 1861, to the close of 1864; or over sixty millions at the minimum rate of $50 per capita. But we must look further than the money value of the emigrant and consider his productive capacity. The emigrant is certainly equal to the Southern negro in this respect, and the average production of the latter, even under the incubus of slavery, was set down at $500 per head per annum. At this rate our annual emigration would add one hundred and fifty millions a year to the cash value of the country. Assuming that from 1865 to 1870 the annual average emigration would only reach 250,000 persons, we have as the result one billion added to the national cash value of the current decade. The emigrant, though, has actually double the negro capacity, which makes the annual increased cash value from that sources three hundred millions, and two billions for the ten years from 1860 to 1870. These figures will give some idea of the benefits we derive from foreign emigration.—New York World.

Farmers' State Convention.

The Putnam County Agricultural Society have called a Convention of the Farmers of Georgia, to be held in Macon the second Wednesday in December next, for the purpose of organizing a State Immigration Society.

Convention—To Planters, Manufacturers and Mechanics.

The old Cotton Planters' Convention convened, after the war, in Macon on the 6th of September, 1866, met again, in Milledgeville, in November, 1866, and changed its name to "Agricultural and Manufacturing Association of the State of Georgia," with a view of enlarging its operations, and inviting the co-operation of every industrial interest of the State.

By resolution, this new Association was to have met at Milledgeville, simultaneously with the Legislature, in November, 1867. Owing to the political changes in the State, and excitement of the public mind, it was deemed advisable to postpone said contemplated Convention till a time more opportune for useful deliberation.

Deeming that period to have arrived, I hereby call a Convention of that Association to meet in the city of Macon, at 10 o'clock A. M., on the 10th day of December, proximo.

Planters, farmers, manufacturers in cotton, wool, iron, wood, and mechanics, and every industrial interest of the State, are earnestly invited to send to that Convention intelligent Representatives to deliberate for the advancement and development of the industrial interests of the State.

The Committee recently appointed in the city of Macon, to make provision for holding an Agricultural and Industrial Fair in that city at a future day, are respectfully requested to provide a hall for the convention.

The newspaper Press of the State, I feel assured, will manifest its characteristic liberality, in behalf of the material interests of the State, by publishing this call, and keeping it before the people till day of meeting.

President Agricultural and Manufacturing Association of the State of Georgia.

The balance scattering and blank.

The registered white vote of the city last spring was 1,800. We presume it has bee i increased to about 2,000. Of the thousand not voting, we estimate as follows—Radicals 300, whipper-snapper Democrats 100, policy Democrats caught in the postponement trap 100, genuine Democrats who would not leave their buisness to vote because there was no opposition 500. About 20 negroes voted; the Radical negroes were instructed not to vote, and no effort was made to induce the Democratic negroes to turn out. The election passed off quietly, and the city is tranquil.

THE VARIETIES.—The fullest house of the season inspired the players to increased exertions to please, last night, and the performance was decidedly rare, rich and racy. We observed a pleasing improvement and more elevated tone in the demeanor of the dramatis personæ, as well as a higher style of wit and humor.

M'lle Josephine failed to arrive by the afternoon's train. She reached the city this morning and will appear to-night.

GRADUAL DEPOPULATION OF NEW ENGLAND.—It has been observed as a singular circumstance, that for two years past there has been a great falling off in attendance at the common schools in New England. This, for New England, where education is a question of the first importance, is an extraordinary fact, and has led to much speculation as to the cause. It has been satisfactorily ascertained that the falling off is not attributable to a diminished interest of the people in education, or to an indispositition of the children to go to school, but to a decrease in the number of children.

The diminution in the number of children may well give rise to grave discussion. As there has not been a prevalence of serious epidemics in New England very recently—certainly not within the two last years—and no greater mortality in proportion to populat on than in other parts of the Union, and probably not so great among children as in large cities or States south of New England, we may well wonder at the decrease in the number of children. Forty years ago, it was not uncommon in that district of the United States—so it is asserted—to find ten children in a family; and that the average offspring of males aged forty-five was seven. At this time, however, it is stated that the average does not exceed four. The deaths are said, in many towns, to exceed the births, and, that but for the emigration of foreigners, they would gradually become depopulated.

Here we have a problem worthy the attention of the Social Science Convention. In New York, and in several other large cities, marriages are not as frequent as formerly; but the population still keeps up to the general standard without the aid of foreign emigration. In New England, where we have never heard of any decrease in marriages, there seems to be a very marked decrease in births. Are we to regard this as one of the accompaniments of an advanced civilization; or does it arise from physical deterioation; or may we attribute it to an acquisition of the peculiar physiological knowledge which has been widely disseminated throughout certain portions of the country? Or would we be correct as well as complimentary in concluding that it resulted from the concentration in the brain of all the vital activities of the body, and that the New England people, in consequence of long-continued cultivation of the mind, are capable only of mental conceptions? Whatever the cause is, the fact itself is a strange and startling one, and may result eventually in the depopulation of the New England States.—New York News.

THE RADICAL ROAD TO "PEACE."—The Alabama Legislature no doubt imagines it is closely traveling it in its proceedings against the imaginary Ku-Klux. Declaring men outlaws, and authorizing anybody to shoot them down with impunity, simply because they put on masks, or appear otherwise disguised, is as certain a way to legalize murder, and force men to take the law into their hands, as could be desired. Under it, every murder in the State would be justified by the plea that the victim was disguised. We suppose that the scheme had its origin in the knavery of a few members, who operate on the stupidity of the others in bringing them to its support.—Columbus Enquirer.

☞ Gen. N. G. Evans, ("Shanks") of South Carolina, late of the C. S. A., died last week near Union Springs, Ala.

"JEAN INGELOW."—THE CONSTITUTION informs us that this lady has never contributed anything directly to the press of this country, and therefore our credit of "When the Sea Gives Up Its Dead," copied into this paper a few days since to the Chronicle and Sentinel, was an error. We are well aware of this fact, Messieurs. The piece was clipped from our Augusta cotemporary, and the exceedingly conscientious printer who set it up gave the credit on his own hook. We beg not to be held responsible for such ridiculous blunders.—Macon Journal and Messenger.

TRUE TO LIFE.—The Georgia correspondent of the New York Times, photographs certain parties in Georgia, after this fashion:

The fact is, and it is as well to admit it frankly, the enterprising individuals called "carpet-baggers," who lead the Radical party in Georgia, are not as scrupulous as they might be, and it would not be too rank injustice to say of them that they are a leetle more selfish than patriotic, and that if trouble pays better than peace they would very generally prefer trouble.

...ily Constitution.

...A, GEORGIA, DECEMBER 2.

An Incident at Sadowa.

BY BLOOMFIELD JACKSON, M. A.

[illegible] were lurking ... last
... where the sounds were lying
... passers strode fast
... the heaps of the dead and the dying.

... was beginning ...
... cared to ... to stain the pain
... vanquished alike.

... haired Austrian lad
... as the shot furrowed band
... comely and daintily clad
... glittering dress of ...

... white, though ... his cheek;
... red the ... his chest,
... terrible ... streak
... blood that had welled from his breast.

... approached where he was laid,
... him in reach of their skill,
... murmured, "Give others your aid,
... your Fatherland! let me lie still."

At dawn they came searching again,
To winnow the quick from the dead;
The boy was set free from his pain,
And the faithful young spirit had fled.

As they lifted his limbs from the ground,
To hide them away out of sight,
Lo! under his bosom they found
The flag he had borne through the fight.

He had folded the silk he loved well,
Lest a shred should be seen at his side;
To wave it in triumph he fell,
To save it from capture he died.

The head of the sternest was bared,
As they gazed on the shot-riven rag,
And the hand of the hardiest spared
To make prey of the Austrian flag.

O'er the tomb of their brother they bowed,
With a prayer for a spirit as brave;
And they gave him a flag for a shroud,
In his narrow and nameless grave.

SLAVERY IN LIBERIA.—The New York Tribune publishes a startling fact in regard to the Republic of Liberia, upon the authority of ex-President Roberts, of that country, who is now in New York city:

Ex-President Roberts, of Liberia, now in this country soliciting aid for the Liberian College, of which he is President, states that the public has made conquests ... interior tribes until it now has a population of 600,000 souls, of whom about 18,000 are emigrant negroes ... America. It is a singular and atrocious fact, now first coming to the knowledge of the public, that this Republic, founded as an asylum of freedom for emancipated slaves, has permitted the continuance of slavery among the interior tribes which it has conquered, on a very extensive scale. President Roberts is quoted as admitting that the wealth of the interior chiefs, like that of the savage tribes of Africa, is measured by their number of wives and slaves. Efficient steps should be taken to rescue Liberia from this lapse into a slaveholding province, and it will be well for those who are solicited in the name of freedom and humanity to contribute to a Liberian College to inquire whether the gratuitous education of the sons of these slaveholding chiefs may not inure to the growth of slavery, rather than of freedom.

"Brick" Pomeroy gives up his La Crosse (Wisconsin) Democrat, or rather removes it to New York, and combines it with his daily paper there as a weekly edition and to be called "Pomeroy's Democrat."

The Lancaster, Pa., Intelligencer proposes that Pensylvania be divided into two States, one East and one West of the Alleghanies.

Official Vote of Georgia.

THE CONSTITUTION,

DAILY AND WEEKLY,

ATLANTA, GEORGIA

BY CAREY W. STYLES & CO.

DAILY, PER ANNUM	$10 00
" SIX MONTHS	5 00
" ONE MONTH	1 00

WEEKLY, PER ANNUM	$3 00
" SIX MONTHS	1 50
" THREE MONTHS	1 00

THE CONSTITUTION is intensely DEMOCRATIC and neither pains, enterprise, nor money will be spared, in the efforts of the Proprietors, to make it a leading organ, and one of the first papers in the South.

THE CONSTITUTION has scarcely laid aside its baptismal robes, and yet its circulation is equal to, if not greater, than any political paper in Georgia. This unparalleled success is mainly attributable to the industry and enterprise which have characterized its management.

As its name imports, it is battling for the Constitution and the liberties of the people; and the patronage it has received, assures the Proprietors that their labors are appreciated, and their policy endorsed.

As an advertising medium, THE CONSTITUTION is, perhaps, superior to any paper published in the State, its circulation being confined to no particular locality, but extending from one end of the State to the other, and from the Savannah to the Chattahoochee.

The Proprietors intend no relaxation of their energy, but will add new features of interest and more vigorous enterprise as patronage increases; and they hope in future, as in the past, to merit the good will and plaudits of their numerous readers.

The excellent remedies of O. S. Prophitt, M. D., need no recommendation. Their well known power in removing the diseases peculiar to our Southern Climate, having already established for them an enviable reputation in Georgia and the adjoining States. As the majority of persons living in the South are pre-disposed to disease of the Liver, it is granted by all intelligent physicians that most of the pains and aches of our people are due to organic or functional derangement of that important organ. Prophitt's Anti-Bilious Pills and Liver Medicine strike directly at the root of the evil. They cure the Liver which, in nine cases out of ten, is at the bottom of the Coughs, Dyspepsia, Colic, Sick Headache, Rheumatism, Constipation, Menstrual Obstructions, etc., so common among our people, Earache Toothache, Acute Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and bodily pains of every kind. flee before PROPHITT'S PAIN KILL IT like chaff before the wind.

SAVANNAH REPUBLICAN,

Daily and Weekly,

By J. R. SNEED.

THE undersigned is pleased to announce to his friends and the public that he has again come in possession of this time-honored journal, and expects to devote his entire time to making it, as a newspaper, second to none in the South. The liberal patronage of the past and better years, while the REPUBLICAN was under his charge, encourages him to hope that by prompt and continued support the public will enable him to carry this purpose into effect.

To the MERCHANTS of the South, and especially of his own State, he looks with confidence for a general support, promising them, in return, the best news, commercial and political journal that his experience and capabilities can produce.

The Weekly Republican,

Designed more especially for the planting community, and others who have not the privilege of a daily mail, will be found to contain all the news of the week condensed into a small compass, and by the close of the year we expect to issue it on a large and imperial sheet of eight pages, to contain more reading matter than any paper in the South.

TERMS:

Daily, One Year	$10
" Six Months	5
" For a less time (per month)	1
Weekly per Year	3

N. B. Payment in advance for either edition will be required, without exception.

All letters should be addressed as below.
